

Amendments to the Specification

Please add the following new paragraphs to page 5 of the specification after “Figure 14 shows a block  more devices embodying the invention;

Fig. 14A illustrates in block diagram form an aroma delivery apparatus including a barcode reader;

Fig. 14B illustrates in block diagram form an aroma delivery apparatus provided in a vehicle;

Please amend the paragraph found on page 25, line 21 as follows:

As another possibility, the apparatus 300 may be associated with a telephone so that an aroma is generated when the telephone rings. The user interface 303 may also provide for a physical connection via a cable to the item of home entertainment equipment. This would have the advantage that the power source for the apparatus 300 may be located at the item of home entertainment or equipment or in an additional box so making the apparatus 300 itself more simple and less bulky. As another way of programming the device, the apparatus 300 may be provided with a barcode reader 304, see Fig. 14A, that may, for example, be used to scan the barcodes that appear in television program listings so that an aroma-providing dispersion that complements the program being watched may be generated.

Please amend paragraph found on page 27, line 5 as follows:

A device embodying the invention may also be incorporated in a motor vehicle 305, see Fig. 14B, possibly being powered from the vehicle battery, and be programmed so as to release a smell or aroma a predetermined period of time after the driver switches on the car ignition so as to alert the driver to the fact that he has been driving for, for example, several hours and to either improve his alertness or to warn him to take a rest.
